

6. The college may require additional charges for these courses. Students must purchase college textbooks.
7. According to the College of Central Florida's policy, any student who fails a Dual Enrollment course will not be eligible to enroll at the college for the remainder of their high school career.

PLEASE NOTE: High school students may have difficulty in registering for CF classes for the second semester. OCA and CF cannot guarantee that a student will be able to register for a dual enrollment class for the second semester, even if they were in a class during the first semester. Also, not all colleges and universities recognize the college credit portion of the dual enrollment class.
